

Puzzle solved

"Go with the Flow"

by John de Cuevas

Consciousness does not appear to itself chopped up in bits. It flows. A river or a stream are the metaphors by which it is most naturally described. Let us call it the stream of thought, of consciousness, or of subjective life.

- William James, [Principles of] Psychology

The clues separated:

Make amorous advances in front of hideaway stiff | I cast aspersions on key inhabitant | with radiance sexual craving sour broken down | animal and all but the last of claim for what's owed coming back in opera text | with two sides the same plea for help in frozen water by the French | statement made under oath very loud in help vita being rewritten | without equal lacking the means to start a fire | throw out coal disrupting is not | native ability likely rearrangement of it due | in speech make fun of an evil slipper | altering the cap I'm positive | frayed and faded said under oath about dance | or push shop being refurbished the 15th element | inducing drowsiness something soggy before orifice that has lost its last | sailors chest many in confusion | think to wrap a corpse with second grade speed | urging by strong advice or the vita rewritten | the science of caring for women in childbirth to set cribs rocking | tending to give freely speak ill of embracing radium | attack not in operation seen brazenly | breeze around southeast triangular piece used in clothing | fresh and vigorous fly . . . uh . . . out unzipped. . . .

A WOODEN B ISLANDER
C LUSTROUS
D LIBRETTO
E ISOSCELES
F AFFIDAVIT
G MATCHLESS
H JETTISON
I APTITUDE
J MOCCASIN
K EMPHATIC

L SHOPWORN
M PHOSPHORUS
N SOPORIFIC
O YACHTSMEN
P CEREBRATE
Q HORTATIVE
R OBSTETRICS
S LIBERAL
T OFFENSE
U GUSSET
V YOUTHFUL